

Course 04: Writing & Communicating

Comprehensive Learning Guide & Practical Prompting Playbook

MODULE OVERVIEW

Master persuasive, clear, and audience-tailored professional communication. Learn how to calibrate tone, draft compelling proposals, structure technical documentation, and polish written content effortlessly.

KEY LEARNING TOPICS

- Tone Calibration & Audience Matching
- The Pyramid Principle (Executive Summary First)
- Drafting Proposals, Emails, & Technical Docs
- Editing, Style Consistency, & Refinement

PROMPTING STRATEGY & ARCHITECTURE

Specify target reader personas, desired tone adjectives (e.g., 'concise, executive, empathetic'), and strict formatting rules to match professional communication standards.

ROLE

You are a Communications Director specializing in executive tech reporting.

TASK

Draft a project status update email for executive stakeholders regarding a major software system overhaul.

CONTEXT

- Project: Cloud Migration Initiative
- Status: 85% complete, 1 week behind schedule due to database schema optimization.
- Mitigation: Extra engineering support added; launch date moved by only 3 days.

TONAL GUIDELINES

Confident, transparent, direct, solution-oriented. Avoid filler jargon.

OUTPUT FORMAT

- Subject Line: Direct & informative
- TL;DR Section (2 bullets)
- Key Achievements & Current Milestone
- Risk & Mitigation Plan
- Next Steps

BEST PRACTICES & PRACTICAL TIPS

- Provide sample text that reflects your desired writing voice ('Write in the style of the provided sample').
- Specify negative constraints (e.g., 'Do not use buzzwords like leverage, synergize, or game-changer').
- Ask for multiple tone variations (e.g., 'Give me 1 formal version and 1 conversational version').
